THE STRAND, The management of the Strand has secured for a special engagement at their popular playhouse the great psychic pho-toplay. His Lirother's Keeper. This pic-ture which comes to ug with the enderge-ment of a highly successful run in New York, will be presented on the screen of the Strand theatre.

The story of this picture is from the pen of N. Erewster Morse, who is per-haps the youngest of all the successful American photo-playwriters. To him has been given the inspiration of writing what crities consider to be one of the most remarkable pictures that has been been offered to the public.

The cast which is one of the most impressive as well as expensive that her ever been assembled in one picture. In-cludes Martha Manafield, the distinguish-ed young star who will be remembered for her sterling work with John Formore in Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde. Rogers Lytton, who is famous for his many successes with Vitagraph also plays one of the leading roles.
